Weil's Approach

We are long-term strategic partners with our clients and fully understand their business objectives. One of our biggest strengths is our ability to assemble the cross-practice teams necessary to tackle everything from transactional due-diligence to pre-dispute counseling to multi-faceted crisis situations, whether they involve bankruptcies, product recalls, or government investigations, among other scenarios. Our long-standing work in the media & entertainment, insurance, healthcare and life sciences, and technology sectors, among others, illustrates our cross-disciplinary capabilities in action.

Key to delivering such full-range, high-quality legal services is our multi-national bench of attorneys that offers exceptional qualifications and academic and technological credentials, all shaped by one unifying principle: a client-focused, trial-ready approach to litigating cases, regardless of subject matter, jurisdiction, or discipline. Guided by this principle, we obtain the most favorable and efficient litigation outcomes for our clients based on a view both of the current situation and our clients' future needs. Our record, not only at trial but in all phases of dispute resolution, underscores the benefits of our approach.

As we adapt to constantly evolving environments and new issues, the core of our approach to litigation – and our formula for success – holds steady. We marry integrated litigation experience with innovation and versatility to find the most efficient ways of resolving disputes, and utilize both the outcomes and lessons learned to counsel our clients with the future front-of-mind.
